BUILDING EVACUATION PROCEDURES

Instructors and supervisors are valuable allies during an evacuation. As a result, instructors and supervisors need to perform certain duties in the event that an evacuation order is given. Under no circumstances are personnel expected to place themselves in danger during a fire or the emergency for the purpose of executing these duties. Thus, the assignment of these duties is based on the Good Samaritan Act of performing them so long as doing so does not place the personnel at greater risk to their personal safety.
